I have a passion for maths and how it is taught.

My aim is to build a child's confidence and self-belief in their own mathematical ability as well providing a structured programme that develops their understanding of mathematical concepts and skills.

I am offering maths workshops that will cover a range of programmes of study. These workshops are open to children who regularly attend my tutoring lessons during the term. They are also open to any child in the local area who would just like to attend the summer maths workshops.

Each workshop lasts for 2 hours and the fee is £80 for each child. Two children will be attending each session. There are limited places so the slots will be allocated on the basis of first come, first served.

A timetable of workshops is available to download on my website.

To express your interest please email or phone.
